

RUNNING FOR

Amber Bellou

HGSE STUDENT COUNCIL

Ed.M. · Harvard Graduate School of Education

Every voice at HGSE deserves to be heard.

I'm Algerian, I grew up in France, and I moved to the United States alone as an international student in high school and learned this system by myself. I hold two bachelor's degrees and a master's in data and computational social science, and I work in educational nonprofits on AI safety and how it shapes the way we learn. I am running to listen first, gather what we actually need, and turn it into real change.

THE TOPICS I WILL ADDRESS

Access to opportunities

Internships, research, labs and jobs — open early and fairly to all of us.

International students

Visa and OPT guidance that arrives before you need it. I have lived this.

Closer to faculty

Meet-ups, small lunches and mentoring, for online and in-person students.

Food access

More community meals, and real help for anyone who needs it.

Tools and accessibility

Software we actually need, gym parity, and access built in by default.

One Harvard, not one building

Real ways into the other Harvard graduate schools, not only HGSE.

Online students, equally

The same access to research, internships and faculty. You are HGSE too.

Student parents

A parent network, kid-friendly events and family-aware scheduling.

Wellbeing and belonging

Deadlines that do not stack, and events that connect all of HGSE.

Your voice, in the open

Each month I publish what you told me and what actually changed.

"I care deeply about every one of my classmates. This year is short and it asks a lot of us, and I want all of us to reach the end of it feeling seen, supported and genuinely loved. That is the whole reason I am running."

SCAN TO TELL ME
WHAT TO IMPROVE

Vote September 8–11

The ballot arrives in your HGSE email. It takes one minute.

The site below is where you tell me what to improve, anonymously if you prefer. It is not the ballot.
